Pastor's Note

November 27, 2021

Modern corporations have become master peddlers of discontent. They have studied and practiced until they have perfected the art of creating feelings of dissatisfaction with our stuff (so that we will spend more money consuming more stuff) and dissatisfaction with our present reality (so that we will spend more time consuming more media). It is ironic that the holiday devoted to thankfulness is immediately followed by "Black Friday," a day devoted to stirring up consumer frenzy to new heights. But the war that is being waged isn't just about our time and money. It is ultimately about our desire, our attention, and our affection. Today my prayer for all of us is that we will find contentment in a God who is contented in us, that our thankfulness will be mingled with a sense of satisfaction in Christ that continually turns our attention back to Him.

Pastor Reed
